Trip Overview

Embark on a culturally rich day trip from Arusha to Lake Eyasi, a remote and scenic soda lake located on the southern edge of the Ngorongoro Conservation Area. This trip offers a unique opportunity to interact with the indigenous Hadzabe and Datoga tribes, experiencing their traditional way of life. The Hadzabe, one of the last hunter-gatherer groups in Africa, will guide you on a fascinating tour of their bushcraft and hunting techniques, while the Datoga will introduce you to their blacksmithing and cattle-herding practices.

In addition to the cultural encounters, enjoy stunning views of Lake Eyasi, where you can spot flamingos and other birdlife. This day trip provides a rare glimpse into Tanzania's tribal cultures and untouched natural beauty, making it an unforgettable experience.
